DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-51 are pending. Claims 17-51 are withdrawn from consideration, as they are directed toward non-elected subject matter.

Applicant's arguments are persuasive to overcome the 35 USC 112 rejection in the previous Office Action.

Election/Restrictions

Applicant states, "Applicants wish to change their species election for the vasodilation compound to sildenafil citrate. . . Applicants additionally wish for the estrogenic compound to claim conjugated estrogens". On 6/2/03, Applicant's orally elected phentolamine hydrochloride as the vasodilation compound and 17 beta estradiol as the estrogenic compound. Applicant is not permitted to change their election of species once they have elected a species and received an Office Action. Thus, Applicant's request to change their species election is denied.

Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

This Election/Restriction Requirement is hereby made final.

103 Rejection Maintained

The rejection of claims 1-16 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Place et al. (6,284,263) in view of Estok (6,011,043) is MAINTAINED for the reasons set forth in the Office Action mailed , 6/25/03 and those found below.

The Examiner respectfully points out that Applicant has argued against the references individually, when the rejection was made over a combination of references. It is respectfully pointed out that one cannot show nonobviousness by attacking references individually where the rejections are based on combinations of references. See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981); In re Merck & Co., 800 F.2d 1091, 231 USPQ 375 (Fed. Cir. 1986).

Applicant argues, "Place fails to teach or suggest a composition further comprising a vasodilation compound as recited in Claim 1 of the present application". This argument is not persuasive, as the combination of Place and Estok teach a vasodilation compound.

Applicant argues, "Estok fails to teach or suggest all of the elements of Claims 1-16 of the present application". This argument is not persuasive, as Estok is not relied upon in the instant rejection to teach all the elements of claims 1-16, but is relied upon in combination with Place et al. to teach all of the limitations of the instant claims.

Applicant argues, "The present application states that sexual dysfunction is 'related to such aspects of female sexuality including. . . Applicants further submit the overall health benefits are not disclosed or understood by Estok". This argument is not persuasive. The Examiner respectfully points out that the instant claims are directed toward compositions. Thus, their intended use is not afforded patentable weight. It is respectfully pointed out that a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 152 USPQ 235 (CCPA 1967) and In re Otto, 136 USPQ 458, 459 (CCPA 1963). In the instant case, there is no structural difference.

Art Unit: 1617

Applicant argues that there is no motivation to combine the references, but fails to point out why the instant rejection lacks motivation to combine the references.

Additionally, regarding Applicant's arguments of "overall health benefits", the Examiner respectfully points out that in addition to the intended use of the compositions not being afforded patentable weight, Applicant has provided no unexpected results of the properties of the instant composition over that of the prior art.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
